NARI Universal Design Certified Remodeler Program Guide

Welcome, and congratulations on taking the first step toward earning the Universal Design Certified Remodeler (UDCR) designation. The National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) has established the Universal Design Certified Remodeler (UDCR) designation to promote the highest standards of universal design and remodeling through credentialing of remodeling professionals. By choosing to review this handbook, you have taken the first step toward joining those who will distinguish themselves by earning the UDCR.

This handbook summarizes key aspects of the UDCR program, and is intended to help you understand the process of certification and recertification when the time comes. The handbook is a useful reference as you:

- Make your decision whether to pursue the UDCR
- Develop your course of study to meet the eligibility requirements of the UDCR
- Complete the UDCR application
- Seek to maintain (or provide yourself another opportunity to earn) the UDCR

The UDCR program continues to evolve and be refined as residential universal design is applied to the remodeling industry matures and continues to develop. No single printed document can address every potential question, process, policy detail, or future change. You are encouraged to use this handbook as a supplement to the program information provided in NARI's Universal Remodeling Course as well as information provided by NARI's certification staff, who may be contacted at 847 298-9200 or info@nari.org.

The NARI Certification Board would also like to thank the Universal Design Certified Remodeler Development Committee for their diligent work in perfecting this program. The committee worked long hours toward establishing the standards and developing the exam for this program. Great Job!

NARI Universal Design Certified Remodeler Program Guide

Applicable as of September 1, 2009. All policies, procedures, and fees are subject to change.

The NARI Certification Board

The NARI Certification Board, the certifying agency of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry, is responsible for the governance of the UDCR program, and all policy and standards related to the UDCR designation. This program is administered by the NARI staff, which implements the policies. This structure allows the NARI Certification Board to maintain integrity concerning policy matters related to certification.

The NARI Certification Board issues certifications to individuals who successfully meet its standards. These individuals may present themselves to the public as Universal Design Certified Remodelers.

What is the purpose of the UDCR designation?

The purpose of the UDCR certification program is to:

- Establish the body of knowledge for professional Universal Design remodelers.
- Assess the level of knowledge demonstrated by Universal Design professionals in a valid and reliable manner
- Encourage professional growth in the field of Universal Design remodeling
- Formally recognize individuals who meet the requirements set by the NARI Certification Board
- Serve the public by encouraging quality Universal Design remodeling practices

The NARI Certification Board, with assistance and advice from professionals in relevant fields, has attempted to develop a credential that will recognize an accepted level of expertise in the profession with the goal of improving professional standards in universal remodeling; however, no certification program can guarantee professional competence. In addition, given the frequent changes in recommended practice and technology, the NARI Certification Board cannot warrant that the test materials will at all times reflect the most current state of the art. The NARI Certification Board welcomes constructive comments and suggestions from the public and profession.

What are the benefits of certification?

GETTING READY FOR THE TEST

Who can take the test?

You are eligible to sit for the UDCR exam if you meet the following requirements:

- Are employed by or own a firm engaged in commercial or residential universal design and/or remodeling or a firm that is supporting the universal design and remodeling industry
- Have a minimum of five years continuous full time experience in the remodeling industry
- Have completed 8 hours of education addressing universal design or universal remodeling principles within the last five (5) years or be enrolled in NARI's Universal Remodeling course.
- Sign an attestation to uphold NARI's Code of Ethics

All experience must be completed at the time the application is submitted.

How much does it cost?

A fee of $299 ($249 without study materials) for NARI members and $399 ($349 without study materials) for nonmembers must accompany the application. The UDCR application documents your qualifying experience, technical competence, professional development activities, and attestation to uphold NARI's Code of Ethics. All experience and coursework must be completed prior to time the exam is taken.

A nonrefundable fee of $100 is included in the application fee. This $100 charge is incurred upon receipt of your application by NARI. If for some reason you fail to meet the eligibility requirements at the time of application, your application and documentation will be returned to you. Your fee will be refunded, less the $100 nonrefundable portion.

How do I apply?

You must complete the current Universal Design Certified Remodeler application for the UDCR program. You should allow at least ten (10) days for delivery if using first class mail. Applications received less than 45 days before your scheduled exam will be rejected and your fee will be refunded less the $100 nonrefundable portion.

When your application has been reviewed and accepted, you will receive an acknowledgement and your name will be entered on the roster of eligible candidates. Successful applicants are qualified to take the exam once during the next 24 months. If unsuccessful on the first attempt, subsequent examinations taken within this 2-year window are subject to a retest fee of $50 per test. If you are not successful at passing the exam within two (2) years of your application date and wish to sit for the exam you will be required to resubmit an application and required certification fee in effect at the time of reapplication.

When and where is the test given?

The UDCR exam is typically conducted yearly at participating NARI Chapters. Depending on demand and availability, tests may be given in conjunction with the Remodeling Show, which is typically held each October, and the JLC Live trade shows held regionally. Chapters and trade shows may charge a proctor fee to administer the exam. Visit www.nari.org/certify for the latest information on test locations. Please note that all examination sites are subject to the availability of facilities and minimum enrollment numbers.

How are special testing arrangements made?

The NARI Certification Board will make reasonable efforts to accommodate eligible candidates, who provide documented evidence of their disability or need for special arrangements, with auxiliary aids, and services that do not present an undue burden to the NARI Certification Board and do not fundamentally alter the measurement of the knowledge the exam is intended to test. If you require special testing arrangements, formal written requests and documentation are required. Documentation should be in the form of a letter on the official letterhead of a licensed or certified professional qualified to diagnose and treat special conditions. A description of the special accommodation(s) requested should be included. Your request, with the documentation, will be reviewed to determine if the accommodation will be granted. If approved, you and your exam proctor will be notified.

What is the format for the test?

The exam is offered in a single, four-hour session. The test will have between 60 and 90 multiple-choice questions. Each question will have four or five options or choices, only one of which is the correct or best answer. You will be asked to select the correct or best answer from these options. You will take the exam in one 90-minute period.

What do I need to know for the test?

The exam content outline organizes the knowledge and tasks deemed essential to universal design and remodeling into seven areas.

How do I prepare for the test?

The NARI Certification Board offers the following suggestions for preparing for the test:

Review the test content outline and ask yourself the following questions:

- Do I have a good understanding of the content area?
- Do I use knowledge from this area regularly at work?

Plan studying based on your answers to these questions. For example, for content areas of which you have a good understanding and use every day, you may only need to do a quick review to prepare for the test, whereas for areas with which you are less familiar, you may decide that you need more in-depth study or training before taking the test.

When planning your studying, you should also think about what percentage of the test questions will cover each major content area. If you are not very familiar with a content area that will comprise a significant proportion of the exam, you should spend some additional time studying that area.

Decide which resources will better help you prepare for the test. The references listed in the authoritative literature below may be helpful when you are reviewing the content areas included on the test.

You may choose to study on your own or you may decide to join a study group at your local chapter to gain a better understanding of one or more content areas.

The UDCR Authoritative Literature

The following is the UDCR Authoritative Literature, a list of references that may be helpful in review for the test. The list is intended for use as a study aid only. The NARI Certification Board does not intend the list to imply endorsement of these specific references, nor are the test questions necessarily limited to these sources. The NARI Certification Board reviews the Authoritative Literature on a biannual basis. This list was updated in August 2009.

What information will I receive about my score?

The test is designed to distinguish those who have the basic level of knowledge from those who do not. There is no evidence that someone who receives a very high score on the test will perform significantly better on the job than someone whose score falls exactly at the passing point. Therefore, if you pass the test, you will be informed only that you have successfully completed the credentialing process. You will NOT be notified of your actual score.

If you do not achieve a passing score, you will be notified of your score and the minimum score required to pass, and will receive a diagnostic report showing your performance in each content area. This information is provided to assist you in deciding whether to retake the test and how to plan your study efforts for future tests.

When will I receive my test results?

UDCR test results will be mailed approximately four (4) weeks after the exam. You may elect to receive notification via e-mail by completing the appropriate form at the time you take the exam. To protect the confidentiality of your test score, no results will be given over the telephone. Results will not be released to any third party without your specific written permission. Forms will be available on the day of the exam or they may be requested from certification@nari.com. At no time will a completed exam be returned to the candidate for review or comment.

Request for re-scoring

If you do not achieve a passing score on the exam, you may ask that your test be rescored to verify the reported score. Request must be in writing and must be accompanied by a payment in the amount of $50, made payable to NARI. Request for hand scoring can be honored only up to 30 days after distribution of the results.

Retaking the test

There is a limit of two times that you may apply for and re-take the test within two years of your original examination date. If you do not succeed in passing the test by the second anniversary of your original examination date you will be required to submit a new application form, fees, and meet all eligibility requirements in effect at the time of the application. There is a $50 fee each time you retake the UDCR exam.

Appeals

Within 20 business days after announcement of the results of the UDCR examination, unsuccessful candidates may file an appeal of their score with the NARI Certification Board on the basis of alleged inappropriate exam administration procedures or testing conditions severe enough to cause a major disruption of the examination process. No one other than the candidate may make the appeal. The NARI Certification Board shall respond to the candidate within 60 days of receiving the appeal.

Nondiscrimination policy

The NARI Certification Board does not discriminate against any person on the basis of age, gender, sexual orientation, race, religion, national origin, medical condition, physical disability, or marital status.
